Governor's visit to the UK April/ May - Good news for St Helena

At an informal meeting of Legislative Council held on Thursday, 17 May, His Excellency the Governor gave a brief report on his recent visit to the UK when, in the margins of the Governors' Conference which took place from 2 - 4 May, he was able to discuss a number of issues that are pertinent to the economic development of St Helena. The first meeting in the UK was with St Helena Line (SHL) to discuss the tender process for the future management of the RMS St Helena passenger and ship operation contracts. Whilst the UK Serious Fraud Office was conducting an investigation into Curnow Shipping Ltd, Governor Hollamby had agreed with SHL that Curnow's tenders would continue to be considered on their own merits. However, in the event of one or both contracts being awarded to Curnow, it would be subject to the inclusion of a suitable caveat, which would provide for the withdrawal of the contract(s) should Curnow be found guilty of any offence. It was hoped that the outcome of the tender process would be known by the end of May. In meeting with FCO officials including the new Director of the Americas, the Resource Management Officer and the Deputy Head of the Overseas Territories Department, the Governor was able to obtain approval in principle for a number of projects that had previously been forwarded to the FCO by the Office of the Chief Secretary. Good Government Funding was obtained for support for the local police force to finance a two-year appointment of an expatriate Assistant Superintendent of Police following ASP Derek Thomas' promotion to Chief of Police later this year. Whilst ASP Thomas had been identified to succeed the current expatriate Chief of Police, Royce Hipgrave, no one had been identified to fill the number two position. Funding was also agreed in principle from the new FCO Economic Diversification Fund to set up a Companies Registry office in St Helena. The absence of a Companies Registry office has denied local business the benefits of corporate status and limited liability. It is an impediment to the development of the economy. It will aid inward investment in that investors will be able to register their business in St Helena rather than having to do so in London. In addition to the above, St Helena and Ascension Island will now be able to attend the biennial Island Games to be held in the Isle of Man in July this year. An application for funding in the sum of £18,000 had been sent to the FCO in April this year. His Excellency was able to follow this up whilst in the UK resulting in the total amount being approved from the Command Project Budget. Finally, to ensure the continued protection and well being of the tortoises and the safety of visitors at Plantation House, £25,000 from the FCO's Estate Budget was also approved to replace the metal fencing around Plantation lawn. Parts of the existing fencing have deteriorated and the tortoises have begun to escape onto the main road. Fortunately they have been found and returned uninjured to the safety of their paddock without falling over the embankment adjacent to the north side of the lawn. Moving away from FCO-funded projects, Governor Hollamby met with DFID officials and Joe Terry from SHELCO, who was accompanied by the Deputy Chairman of a leading architectural and engineering firm "OVE ARUP" who had joined forces with SHELCO. The meeting was positive with "OVE ARUP" explaining that they would be in a position to offer a Public Private Partnership and help to raise the balance of monies that would be needed for an airport over an above that which DFID would provide for the least cost access option i.e. either sea or air access. The meeting was however, unable to discuss the findings of the High-Point Rendel air/sea access study since the report had not been finalised. The Governor's Conference covered a number of issues

Another busy week has slipped by and the festivities of last weekend seem to have been much enjoyed by all who took part. Some people expressed disappointment that the Ladder wasn't lit up for the occasion as it was for the Millennium last year along with the Jerusalem lamp, which still burns quietly away in St James's Church. Anyway it won't be long before the year rolls round to St Helena Day once more. The report on HE's visit to the UK (left) makes interesting reading and it comes across quite strongly that Governors left DFID and the various other agencies that are responsible for our progress or otherwise in no doubt as to their feelings and of course ours on the issues which face and effect us in the near future. The promises in the White Paper sometimes appear a little loaded in favour of our masters' objectives, though it may be that this trend, which has been going on for many years may be in the process of reversal as our benefactors begin to realise that neither we nor they can continue in this atmosphere of "we keep giving you money and all you do is ask for more!" This is of course not the case. I am sure that there is nothing that St Helenians would wish more than a more constructive and indeed productive relationship with the Mother Country. We are ready to take on the responsibility of controlling our destiny in a more positive manner. We have done it in the past and I see no reason why it should not be the case in the future. Having said all that the situation looks a bit more hopeful as far as communication is concerned and I think this is the value of the Governor's attendance at such meetings. Although we can never appear to be 100% happy with what is happening I think we have to accept that no matter how slowly things move - at least they are moving. What we need to make sure of is that our next Council is a strong one and only we as voters can ensure this. We cannot choose our Governor, our Chief Secretary or our Financial Secretary but we can choose our local leaders - the ones we often blame for the perceived inadequacies of our Government. The 27 June is not far away and it is our moral responsibility to go to the Polls and vote with our conscience for the best possible outcome, which including citizenship, law and order, relations with the EU and the OCT decision, human rights and the environment. On the citizenship issue, Governors expressed their disappointment that relevant legislation had not been passed and submitted that despite the 1999 White Paper "Partnership for Progress and Prosperity", London was not living up to its commitments: there could be no partnership without the delivery of citizenship. In discussing relations with the EU and the OCT decision, the Governor was advised that DFID had lifted its block on the Wharf Improvement Project with regard to the economic rate of return on the funding. The project proposal would now be refined and submitted to the EU. Governors were also presented with a lengthy White Paper "Making Globalisation Work for the Poor". Governor Hollamby took the opportunity to stress the need for air access on St Helena, making it clear that without an airport, there would be little inward

DAPHNE YON

The Staff at Sundale house would like to send sincere condolences to the family and friends of the late Daphne Yon, affectionately known as Babsy, who passed away on 21 May. Thanks to the Doctors and Nurses for their kind care and attention to Daphne during her short time in hospital. Thanks also to Father Fred for conducting the funeral service and to Mrs Pat Musk for playing the organ. The burial took place at St Paul's Cathedral on 22 May.

will reap the greatest and wisest Government and Legislature that we can possibly achieve through the exercise and power of our democratic rights. In ancient Greek times people were allowed to sit in on and listen to the deliberations of the 'senate' at the highest level, perhaps we will be accorded the same favours in the future so that we can see and hear what is being said in our future interests. Anyway enough of politics, what's new on the horizon? This year we have several fairly major cruise ships scheduled to visit towards the end of the year including the Aurora, the latest great P & O liner after the Oriana. Anyone who has followed its construction on the TV will be aware of what an impressive and majestic vessel we can expect to see assuming that the seas are kind. The QE2s is due to visit three times and various other ships should bring a bit of money to the Island so we should be gearing up for these visits now and not dithering around until the day before arrival before making plans as to how we can cope with 2050 extra bodies on the Island in a short period of time. Talking of time let's go back to the beginning; in a very short space of time - 1/500th of our age as a discovered entity in one of the world's great oceans we will be celebrating our discovery as a haven for people and animals although a few of these were already here when this glorious hump of rock was spotted by a Portuguese sailor all those years ago. Let us make sure that in the coming months our Quincentennial celebration is significant, memorable, tangible and lasting.

In the meantime...

Have a Nice Weekend
Johnny

Dear Editor,

I refer to a letter received from Olive Yon in Plumstead, South Africa, published in the 18 May edition of St Helena News, whereby she questioned whether the Secretary of States approval had been sought to 'acquire or be part owner of any land on the island' as stipulated by Public Service Orders.

To put the record straight, and to clear up any misconceptions, I can confirm that the Secretary of state's approval was sought and obtained for Mr Styles to hold an interest in land in St Helena.

Yours faithfully

Clerk of Councils

Dear Editor,

I find myself going back in time in reading your St. Helena News dated 9th March 2001, and I refer to page 9 of that issue and the item 'PEST WATCH'. The author commented on the locally produced peaches. "It has been encouraging to see the amount of local peaches available this season. Not only were peaches presented as gifts between households, but were also for sale on the local market. Approximately 25kgs were reported to have been sold through one particular outlet." The author goes on to say that the peaches were tastier than imported peaches. Rightly so but I must disagree with the statement that reads. "The objective of the Integrated Pest Management Project was to increase local production of fruit and vegetables and to reduce imports." I find this rather misleading as it would appear that through the Integrated Pest Management Project, where many thousands of pounds had been spent in an endeavour to try and eradicate the Mediterranean Fruit Fly that failed, we now have perfect local peaches. The statement is untrue. I speak from experience.

When the Integrated Pest Management Programme was well established, and I received an IPM visit, I was asked not to spray with Lebaycid Liquid because the IPM team would like to experiment with some special Fruit Fly Bate on my peach and plum trees. I went along with their idea and left this part of the fruit tree management to them. In previous years, I have always had an abundance of good tasty plums and peaches, and I thought that after the new experiments I would have a good crop, (maggot free) without having to spray. This would be wonderful I thought. However, I was mistaken. That season nothing could be harvested, not even to give away, as the whole crop of fruit was heavily infested after being stung by the Mediterranean Fruit Fly. No one from the IPM team ever came back to check or even ask about the crop quality. I therefore reverted to my old method. Mulching, pruning, manure and placing drip irrigation on each tree from Spring to the end of the fruit season. After blossoming of both the peach and plum trees I took my empty five gallon tin, stuffed it with dry grass, made a few holes in the side, set it alight and placed it under each tree for an hour or so each week. The smoke from the smouldering grass does a tremendous job of keeping away the fruit fly as the fruit develops. The trees also had two applications of Lebaycid Liquid. As a result, this year I had an abundance of fruit. I made gifts to family and friends and a substantial amount of peaches and plums were sent to the Market in Jamestown. The St. Helena News Item Of 9th March 2001 would therefore appear to readers that the success of having tastier, maggot free fruit now grown locally was the result of the Integrated Pest Management Programme. Unfortunately you have been misled.

Dear Editor,

I wonder if anyone else will agree that a good project would be to remake some of those oil lantern holders that used to grace our streets and public places. There are two cradles for them on the wall outside the Castle and another at the end of the lane from Back Street etc. Surely reproductions of these would not be very hard to fabricate in our school workshops and be an excellent project for the students who can show how well they can use the various tools and metal fabrication skills. As a matter of interest the wick and paraffin holders are already in stock as they have a number of those old yellow road oil-warning lights at P.W.D. Filled with Paraffin and lit for the duration of the celebrations they would look quite cute as well as looking much better than being lose items hanging down from the walls in a state of general neglect and disrepair. Perhaps we could also make 'The Run' an interesting pretty and useful walk by the application of suitable areas to plant flowers, shrubs and colourful trees. By the way the run itself could do with some small repairs as 'a stitch in time saves nine!' Well someone did ask for ideas!

Dear Editor,

I thought the suggestion of an ideas column a good one and would like to contribute the following:- For a number of years several people have thought that a Coastal Road to Ruperts - from the landing steps round Needle's Eye - would be a great asset to the island - particularly since unsightly containers began to become the norm. It would obviously give ease of access for crane, fisheries etc and allow the Argos proposal of making Ruperts a container park a real possibility. The wharf area would then become a much more attractive area for visitors to arrive, and also be free for recreational activities. What do others think?

Dear Editor,

I would be extremely grateful, if with the cooperation of the Saint Helena News Paper, I could through you extend the thanks of not only myself but also the other volunteers from Lancashire County Fire and Rescue Service, Station Officer Andy Barnes and Sub Officer Andy Wilkinson, and myself, former Assistant Divisional Officer Colin Cunliffe, who within the last six months have worked with and assisted the St Helena Fire Department, and other Island agencies. Collectively we would like to thank all those who have made our visit so memorable, the warmth; cooperation, support and general friendliness will remain a lasting memory with us for many years to come. To make a list of all those special people we met would take forever; and I would not wish to cause offence by leaving any one out. Suffice to say everyone we met without exception was helpful and friendly. What the Island lacks sadly in tangible facilities and rights, the "Saints" have the more important and non-tangible ones in abundance, the ones of warmth, tolerance, humour, and friendliness, which should be the norm. But unfortunately in many parts of the World including mine we have lost. Again on behalf of myself my colleagues and my partner Julie. Thank you once again.

Yours Sincerely
Colin Cunliffe.

Dear Editor,

Because I have no St Helenian qualifications it is very hard for me to get a decent job that pays well. I had a job earlier this year but was only getting 50p per hour whereas when I was in the UK doing some part-time work I was getting £4 per hour. I think the pay that some people get is very ridiculous. What if they were living on their own? How are they supposed to cope? So far, I've been turned down for at least 12 jobs and I think it is ridiculous, as I've got my grades from when I was in England but no one here will accept them. All of the hard work I did in England was for nothing and it's a shame that I have to waste my life sitting in the house all day, every day. When someone comes from overseas they get a job straight away. A lady came from the Falklands not so long ago and had a job a few days later down at the Castle. Another woman came from Ascension by the last ship and the Social Services kept phoning her to find out if she wanted a job there. A young man came from the UK and was offered a job at the Jamestown Spar. Even though these people might have experience or whatever they should still have to go through the same procedures as everyone else. I know for sure that there were no interviews going on for these jobs' as they weren't even advertised. I've been trying for six months to actually get a job but have been totally unsuccessful. There is too much favouritism going on on this Island and I know that it's not only me that has a problem.

Name and address withheld.

leg its got bells on it. Let's go back a few years when greed raised its ugly head; there was a meeting within the Energy Section concerning this very same thing only this time with a difference, the so called Discomfort Allowance Group Vs the Distribution Foreman who were always on call. The persons on call were never available so naturally the Distribution Foreman was obliged to go out himself on many occasions not returning home until 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning, sometimes later. After a debate it was agreed that the Foreman would stay at home and his team would make themselves available for callouts. Within a very short time everything was back to square one; the team put on a disappearing act doing what they liked best and the Distribution Foreman was back on call. But this didn't go un-noticed, some time later, Director of Works, A C Rennie spotted this injustice during a departmental reshuffle and approached the Castle, the Distribution Foreman was paid a substantial sum of money for his time in lieu. So my friend, Mr Concerned Islander, I wouldn't use the word Discomfort so harshly for its words like Discomfort and Uncomfortable that lie solely with the individual conscience. They say that even a fish wouldn't get caught if it kept its mouth shut.

Fun Day attracts 1500 to 2000 people to Francis Plain!

By Cathy Hopkins

The Fun Day hosted by the St James' Restoration Action Group and Mr Melvin Benjamin on 20th May seems to have been a great success judging from comments from members of the public - it seems that everyone who came to the Plain had a good time. The day was started off by the Half Tree Hollow Cheerleaders from Prince Andrew School. They performed their routine in their colourful outfits bringing everyone's attention to bear on the stage area where the Lord Bishop then welcomed everyone and Miss St Helena, Miss Peggy M o y c e , declared the day's events open. She was then presented with a bouquet of roses. Immediately following the opening ceremony, the toddlers were on display in their wonderful Fancy Dress outfits— some mums had certainly been hard at work with the sewing machines and others with constructing the frameworks for a fairy's wings and a wall! All the entrants are to be congratulated for their efforts and the judges didn't have an easy task in deciding on the winners. Every entrant received a gift for having a go. Some of the toddlers must have been pleased to change out of their hot costumes and find the Ice creams although others seemed to make a beeline for the Bouncy castle as soon as it was blown up! Business here was non-stop until it was deflated just before the Songs of Praise. The stalls attracted a lot of business – selling of food was brisk with Soup & Hot Dogs, Fish Cakes , Curry & Rice all being in demand as was the BBQ which eventually ran out in the evening! Ice creams were very popular in the heat of the day and the Teas stall did good trade all afternoon. Displays were enjoyed and aroused the interest of visitors and it seems that there was no shortage of takers for raffle tickets or for having a go on the Bottle & Can stalls , Lucky Dips [ the organisers said they wished they 'd made more as they sold out very quickly!] Odds & Evens, or buying Plants, Bric a Brac etc. The Bingo was also popular. Down on the field the Fun Sports took off after lunch – as always the announcers had to cajole people to get up and have a go, but once started the races kept going although there was no interest in the Bike Races nor in any of the Obstacle Races. Several flat races proved popular and a relay was run. The Pillow Fight was just for fun and seemed to be used throughout the afternoon. Keen interest was evident when the Tug of War was called. The Fishermen's Challenge was taken up by several teams but, in the final between the Fishermen and the Irishmen, it was local pride at stake and the visitors didn't really stand a chance against the pulling strength of the local lads! There was a lovely atmosphere throughout the day and everyone seemed intent upon enjoying themselves – some stayed in the shade of tents alongside their cars, others watched from the terraces, many came on the field to sample the BBQ and visit the Beer Tent and some remained firmly sat in the Pavilion or on their own seats watching proceedings from the "top" ! It was very much a "do what you feel like doing" day and I suspect that a lot of the children will have slept well on Sunday night as they didn't stop running round, playing football, bouncing on the Bouncy Castle or having their own tug of war competition. The day's events closed with a short Songs of Praise accompanied by the Get-togethers Orchestra and was followed by an evening of music and dancing which attracted even more people to come over to the Plain. Overall, the organisers feel that it was well worth all the hard work and would like to say a heartfelt THANK YOU to everyone who assisted in the preparations for the day, the running of the day, and the clearing up on 21st May!! At least one of the organisers didn't see his bed until the early hours of Monday morning but he was still there by ten o'clock to help with the clean up operation!! The tremendous support shown by the public is very much appreciated but to the child who asked? "When are you going to do this again?" we think perhaps a little breathing space is needed first!

ACTIVITY REPORT

The Police Department dealt with 20 reports last week. Four arrests were made in separate incidents. On Tuesday, 15 May at about 8.20pm a male from Jamestown was arrested for being found drunk in a public place, he was charged with the offence and bailed to appear before Magistrates on Thursday, 24 May. On Thursday, 17 May two males from the Briars were arrested for fighting; one of them was admitted to hospital to have his injuries treated. Both men were charged with being in possession of an offensive weapon for an unlawful purpose and one was also charged with assault occasioning actual bodily harm. A resident in the Red Hill, Levelwood area, who was at home alone at about 3.00am on Saturday morning heard someone attempting to gain entry to his home.

He quickly left the house and went to the home of a nearby friend where he alerted the police by phone. He returned with the Police and found the intruder crouching by his bed. The man was arrested on reasonable suspicion of burglary and charged with burglary. He was later released on bail to appear before Magistrates on 31 May. In the early hours of Sunday morning a beige Ford Fiesta, registration number 129, was parked in Barracks Square. The occupants had gone to Dillon's Bar for no longer than an hour. During their absence some unknown person or persons went to the car and removed a ladies black sling bag containing £450. The Police would like to remind the public that St Helena is not a crime free society and they urge everyone to make every effort to ensure that their valuables and property are properly secure. Another burglary took place at the residence of Mr Tom Crowards at Red Hill. On returning to his home he discovered a burglar leaving the house. He pursued the man who is approximately 5ft 10in in height and of a fair complexion. The man got away with a black rucksack, a wallet containing some credit cards and £10 in cash as well as a plate with some food on it. The incident was reported to the Police but as yet the burglar is still at large. There was a theft of two fishing rods with reels in the Longwood area. One minor Road Traffic Accident was reported and there were 10 requests for police assistance. The Police department is pleased to note that the celebrations on Francis Plain on Sunday and St Helena Day in Jamestown were a success and went off without any incidents.

UNDETECTED CRIME

Over the past six weeks we have received four reports of burglaries. All of which occurred in the St Pauls and Half Tree Hollow areas. The most recent one being at Tom Crowards residence Red Hill. Mr. Crowards arrived home on Sunday 20 May at 22:30 hours. At this time he saw a male person leaving his residence. This person was about five feet ten inches tall, had a fair complexion, and was dressed in dark clothing. This person was carrying a black rucksack, belonging to the Croward family. Other items of value were stolen from Mr. Crowards house. DID YOU SEE ANYONE IN THE AREA OF THE CROWARDS RESIDENCE?

2) IT Storeroom, Ladder Hill complex on 19 April. A computer was stolen (make Compaq).

3) A&NRD Administration block, Scotland on 26 April. Property was damaged; an attempt was made to open a safe containing three thousand four hundred pounds. It appeared the burglars' efforts were to no avail.

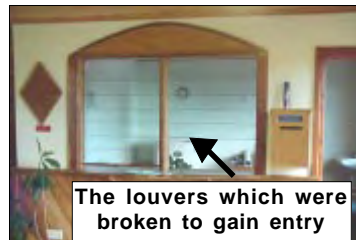

It would appear from the crime scenes that all three burglaries were planned and burglars were equipped. If anyone has any information about these burglaries or saw persons in the areas on the relevant dates where the burglaries took place, please let us know. You can give the information direct by telephoning 2626 and passing your information on to the receptionist, give it to an officer of your choice, you can call me anytime either at work on 2626 or at home on 4016 or call the confidential crime line 2151. If information that is given results in a person being charged a reward of payment will be made.

investment and no tourist industry given the limited passenger capacity on the RMS St Helena. With an ageing population and no economic growth, St Helena would be in a continuous need for aid. Vision was needed to fund an alternative economic development model for St Helena and move us away from dependency. Air access could lead to this. Discussions on human rights issues covered domestic violence, women's rights and child abuse. Governor Hollamby was able to brief the meeting on the implementation of recommendations made by DFID Social Adviser, Stephen Kidd. Mr Kidd was in attendance and was able to confirm that St Helena was miles ahead of other Overseas Territories where there was a high rate of crime including child abuse and domestic violence. Governor Hollamby was also pleased to report that Baroness Scotland, who was a qualified Barrister in family/social matters, had offered to give free advice to the Overseas Territories. Finally, the conference noted that the draft Environmental Charter had been sent to all Overseas Territories for comments with a view to obtaining agreement for all territories to adopt the Charter at the next Overseas Territories Consultative Council meeting later this year. On-island consultation regarding the content of the draft is being led by the Environmental Coordinator, Miss Isabel Peters. In concluding his report to Legislative Council, Governor Hollamby commented that the Governors' Conference was very good and that overall his visit to the UK was most useful and beneficial to St Helena.

From the Fire &
Rescue Service

It has been another busy week for the Fire and Rescue Service and whilst we look back on a successful rock removal operation carried out by the Public Works and Service Department, we also reflect on the tragic loss of life at Manatee Bay and offer sincere condolences to the families of those involved. Everyone will know by now, through radio reports that two fishermen, Glen Beard and Herman Peters did not return from fishing last Wednesday afternoon. The Sea Rescue Services were mobilised after being alerted that evening, and whilst following investigations we were certain that the two had gone fishing in the area, sea conditions that evening prevented any land or underwater searches being carried out. The Rescue team were dispatched on Thursday morning, including a land search team of ANRD workmen, members of the emergency services and members of the public, however, sea conditions were such in Old Wife Cove, that a complete search of the fishing rocks was unable to be carried out, until Barry Benjamin of Harpers was collected from one side of the cove and landed on the other. After searching, he found clues, which led us to believe that Glen and Herman had been fishing in the area known as Rainy Rocks. Divers were committed to the water and located and retrieved the body of Herman Peters at the entrance to a cove. Repeated searches were carried out, but unfortunately the body of Glen Beard could not be located. Over the following few days, sea conditions deteriorated, but divers searched the entire area across the front of Manatee Bay and Devils Hole. Saturday's sea conditions were very bad, and this continued into Sunday and Monday, although a surface search and a deep dive was made on Sunday. Sea conditions improved on Tuesday, although not good enough to allow divers to search the area directly in front of the area known as The Waterfall. A further search was made on Wednesday, but again sea conditions were unfavourable. At the time of writing this report, it is planned to visit the area and carry out a surface search on Thursday 24 May. Thanks must be extended to all who helped in some way or the other, especially to those members of the public who helped with the land search, both on the evening the report was received and the ensuing days. This was the first rescue operation of its kind to take place under my command and I found good interaction between the Rescue Service, the Divers and other emergency services, there was co operation in all areas and whilst there were points we improved upon, resulting from debriefs of the previous rescue, I am sure there will be points to improve on from this occasion. A successful operation at the end of the week was the controlled rock fall by the Public Works and Services Department last Friday. Rock Guards had identified an outcrop of rock above the Wharf in Jamestown. From the pictures you can see the quantities of rock and the damage caused. However, it is quite obvious that it was a very good move to bring the rock down in a controlled manner as the damage can be repaired, had the rocks fallen on their own, there could have been serious consequences. The operation gave our section and the Public Works and Services Department to work together, using newly acquired skills and equipment.

It's Begun...

By Garron Yon

Well – it has begun – the Q5 Celebrations. We are on the countdown to St Helena's Day 2002. Over 300 people eventually filled the Bridge on Monday 21 May to celebrate this historic event which was opened by the His Excellency the Governor. The special Q5 countdown clock, designed and made by Jason Yon and Damien O'Bey, was started immediately after a short service which was conducted by Bishop John and members of the Right Hand Trust. Making history, Mrs Ethel Yon MBE started the clock – which is probably the only one in the world, at the moment, on such a long countdown. Martin George provided musical entertainment throughout the day, with many people smiling at the sign behind him: "Joys Boys Music"!! For the first time in ages, the Market was really brought alive. Crowds of people made their way to see the special Q5 photomosaic poster and some works from the Art and Craft Centre. So far, some seven people have signed up for Miss St Helena 2002, and several people are also planning to start researching their family history. The sports on the Bridge were very favourably received with egg and spoon, three legged and ice cream jive races. It was also amusing to see the Q5 committee trying their best to pull tug 'o' war against a team of men who had already won a game earlier in the day. The smallest Q5 team member was Anya Richards who was probably half the size of a member on the other end of the rope!! Despite trying their best – Q5 lost the case of beer!! The happy crowd was also entertained with a dance from the Pilling School Cheerleaders and other dancers. As the sun moved over towards Blue Hill, people stayed to listen and dance to the music of the Rock Club Band. The evening closed with more music by Martin. Radio St Helena news on Tuesday 22 said that most comments were favourable although some were disappointed that the Ladder was not lit and there were no flags and coloured bulbs. Still, the event turned out to be a great success. People queued up for soft serve ice cream all day, and many rounded off the evening with a drink in the pubs. And guess what?? It's only just begun...

The message from the Q5 committee is – "as the clock is counting down, we must wind up – whole island participation is the only way to success."

IRENE DAVIES 90th BIRTHDAY

On Friday 18 May, Irene Davies celebrated her 90th birthday at 'The Haven' in Jamestown with a thoroughly enjoyable tea party. She is the daughter of Charles and Caroline Sylvester from Half Tree Hollow. Together with her husband Charles who worked as a warden and there raised three daughters, Sheila, Heather and Jenny. Altogether Renie had spent over 33 years as Matron and protector for vulnerable people when she retired in 1974 and has made a magnificent contribution to the St Helenian society. Happy Birthday Irene and we are all looking forward to many more birthday parties in the future.

Contributed by Bernice Olsson

Irene is very well known as the Matron of the 'Workhouse' in Jamestown from 1941. This was the forerunner to 'The Old People's Home' and today's 'Haven'. The Workhouse was not only a home for elderly people but also for the disabled and orphans. Renie as Irene is affectionately known still has contact with many of the children brought up in her care. She Nearly three years ago St Helena News reported a remarkable find by Mr Trevor Stevens of Fig Cottage, Jamestown. Trevor, affectionately known as 'Bread', presumably because he's fairly crusty on the outside but has a soft centre and likes to be buttered up, found a prehistoric video camera in the back of a friend's garage, which after minor repairs and additions he used to capture some classic footage of Saints enjoying a congenial drink in the Standard and Consulate Bars. Well Trevor has done it again. A comparatively small erection has appeared on Trevor's estate in the form of a satellite dish, which pointing skywards, Trevor says, provides him with 15 channels of digital TV. Trevor maintains that his brother sent the mini-dish to him but word locally has it that after many hours of painstaking experimentation and tests Trevor has actually constructed this technological miracle himself in his front room, which is just below to the dish. It is a wonder that no one observed this frantic activity through the window, as the curtains are permanently open. Trevor, a man who plays his cards close to his chest, admits that he can pick up channels that no one else can receive. A local informant who overheard a conversation between the bibulous 'Captain Bread' and another toper in one of the local drinking establishments reported the following:

Trevor: 'Did you see the match the other night?'

Toper: 'Man United versus Liverpool?'

Trevor: 'Naw.'

Toper: 'Man United versus Bayern?'

Trevor: 'Naw.'

Toper: 'Celtic versus that other team?'

Trevor: 'Naw!'

Toper: 'Well what then?'

Trevor: 'Mars versus Venus, silly!'

A local expert on satellite communication said that if Trevor is able to pick up the channels he claims he felt sure that NASA would be very interested. It is rumoured that SETI (Search For Extra Terrestrial Intelligence) are writing to Trevor by the next ship with a view to sending a team down to investigate.

for rice. The loose tea has been replaced by tea bags and most people now buy tub margarine as opposed to the packets of Echo. There has also been a noticeable concern from shoppers when it comes to expiry dates, with no one wanting to buy food which is outdated. Many people have also become more health conscious and are buying low fat and sugar free foods. Besides food, it has even been noticed that in recent years, people are becoming more particular when it comes to the types of shampoos and facial creams they buy. Generally, shopkeepers feel that people are very keen to try any new foods or products, and they will naturally ensure that they are ordering the stocks which people want to buy.

By Garron Yon

There has been a noticeable change in peoples buying habits over the last 10 years. The Statistics Office, of the Development and Economic Planning Department conducts a 'shopping basket' survey every three months to note any changes in prices. The 'Shopping basket' contains 160 goods and services that range from corn flakes to payment for electricity bills. The section also conducts a Household Expenditure Survey, which shows what type of items people are buying. A survey of this type is also conducted in the UK and from their recent results it was noted that people are buying different things. It seems as though this is also becoming the case on St Helena. St Helena News spoke to Tracey Thomas, Statistics Officer who has recently been involved in supervising the household expenditure survey that took place in July and August of last year. They will be able to provide the results in June of this year. Response to the survey was good. During previous surveys the section often came across the problem of people not recording everything they consume which made it necessary to adjust results to match items that are being imported. Otherwise, there would have been the problem of figures showing that goods are being imported to the Island on a regular basis, but not being consumed. Whilst analysis of the data has not yet been completed, Tracey feels that some items will have changed since the last survey that was conducted in 1994. She says that there has been the introduction of television fees and an increase in water charges both of which will appear as prominent figures on peoples expense lists. Besides this, the section has also noted that peoples general purchases have also changed. For example more people are buying cooking oil as opposed to lard. St Helena News also went to several shops to find if there has been any notable change in what people have been buying during the last 10 years. Generally, all shops noticed the same types of change. People are far keener to buy pastas and quick foods. In fact, one person said that to an extent, many have now substituted pasta

Much of the Island's natural history; its plants, animals, fossil deposits and dramatic geological features as well as the built heritage such as military batteries, can only be found by exploring the Island on foot. Using footpaths helps to preserve access to this and to some of the most dramatic and beautiful parts of the island. During Environmental Awareness Year (between October 1998- September 1999) the St Helena Nature Conservation Group (SNCG) led 21 guided walks to raise awareness of our Island environment. Some of the places visited included Great Stone Top, Shark's Valley, The Barn, Prosperous Bay, Sugar Loaf & Thompson's Valley. We intend to establish these walks as 'post box walks'. We are also planning to produce a booklet describing the walks in which stamps, available at each destination, can be used to mark the books against the walk completed. Keen walkers will have already noticed that most of the post boxes, which were donated by the ANRD, have been put in place but are all still empty. We are still working on designing the stamps and Solomon and Company have kindly agreed to provide the stamps. Tom Crowards is busy writing up the description of the walks. We are aware that many of the paths are in need of attention. Inland paths are often overgrown and coastal paths are subject to erosion. In addition many of the paths are difficult to find or follow because they are not clearly marked out on the ground. To reverse the deterioration of many of these walks the SNCG has started an improvement programme. Once a month volunteers will be encouraged to come along and help improve the quality of different footpaths. The first such walk was held on Sunday 6th May to Lot's Wife's Ponds. Ten keen walkers armed with picks, shovels and a rope worked hard to mark the route by building cairns (stones piled together in a conical shape); clear stones from parts of the path and, widen the path in those places where it had collapsed or was difficult to traverse. A section of rope was also added, supplementing the existing rope, to help make the descent to the ponds a bit safer. The walk was rewarding, everyone pitched in and helped – the pickaxe workers did an excellent job - the improvements were obvious, the weather was fine and the company friendly and jovial. Well done and thanks. The next walk will be to High Hill on Sunday 3rd June, commencing at 10 am. We hope people will come along and join in. Help to make a difference.

SHHHH... 150 RUNS NOT OUT.

By Johnny Drummond

Above: Vicars and Tarts Rampage through Ruperts

Right: Trio of Tarts

On Saturday afternoon the St Helena Hash House Harriers held their 150th Hash at Rupert's Valley. This was a themed event, which involved a degree of cross-dressing along the lines of a Vicars and Tarts event. Seven adults of varying dimensions took part, though there were a couple of junior vicars involved as well as one very young tart. The Hash trail is laid by a Hare who normally lays the trail with Plain white flour as opposed to self-raising. Several false trails are laid and these are followed in order to find the start – rather curious you might think. The merry band arrived at Rupert's and leisurely assembled into a group for a photo opportunity. Workers from the Fisheries and Argos complexes looked on in a bemused state of bafflement, the heat was scorching as the group went off on their wild goose chase. The object of the Hash is not merely to produce physical perfection in body and soul regardless of how slowly the process is achieved but also to look forward to the camaraderie of the general celebratory libation which takes place afterwards, usually at one or other of the local bibberies. Needless to say our roving reporter did not take part in this historic event and was merely on hand to click the shutter and take a few notes. Hashers often have exotic nicknames and Saturday was no different there was 'Rugger Bugger', 'Loopy Lou', and 'Rubber Heels' in the line up. At the end of the Hash it was hoped that a brief adjournment to Donny's Place could be effected to lave the dusty palates of the participants. It was however decided that a return to normal dress should take place prior to the descent as raised eyebrows might misconstrue the purpose and motives of our happy Hashers. The Hash, although a relatively recent phenomenon on St Helena, is certainly not a new thing in other parts of the world. A glance at the Web gives ample proof of this. The original Hash House Harriers were formed in Kuala Lumpur in about 1938 by A. S. Gispert – "a man of great wit and charm"... "He was a splendid fellow and would be happy to know that the harriers are still going strong". By all accounts Gispert was not an athlete and as much stress was laid on the subsequent refreshment as on the Hash itself. Sadly Gispert was killed during WWII. The name apparently stems from the establishment where the Hashers were boarded. It is also believed that because of their particular knowledge of the various by-ways of Selangor their experience was of brief use to MI5 during the early stages of the War. SH4 are keen to accept new members and anyone who completes 10 hashes will receive a unique T-shirt exclusive to the St Helena Hash. Anyone wishing to join can contact Leon "Hillbilly" Buckley on tel no. 4469.

HERMAN PETERS

Mum Mary, sister Shirley, niece Miranda, nephew Garreth, auntie Winnie, uncles Jimmy, Dougie and Robert and immediate family would like to extend their sincere thanks and gratitude to the many people who have sent their condolences at the tragic loss of Herman. The many words of compassion have been a source of strength to the whole family at this difficult time. Thanks to all who helped in any way to make it possible to have Herman returned home to his final resting place. Thanks to ASP Derek Thomas and the Police Team, to DFC Derek Richards and his Rescue Services, to the staff of the A&NR

Department, the staff of Solomon & Company, to the Doctors and medical staff, to all volunteers who gave up their time in the search for Herman. A special thank you to the Dive Team namely Larry Thomas, Graham Sim, Robert George, Paul Hickling, Belfred Lawrence, Martin Buckley, Anthony Thomas, Steve McCabe and the rest of the boat crew for risking their own lives in the successful recovery of Herman's body. Thanks to Mrs Pat Musk, the organist, Lay Minister, Mrs Ruth Pridham, Father Fred George, Father Clive Duncan and Bishop John Salt and all who sent floral tributes. It is evident from the large number of people who came to St Helena and the Cross to say farewell to Herman that he was a popular figure amongst the Island community.

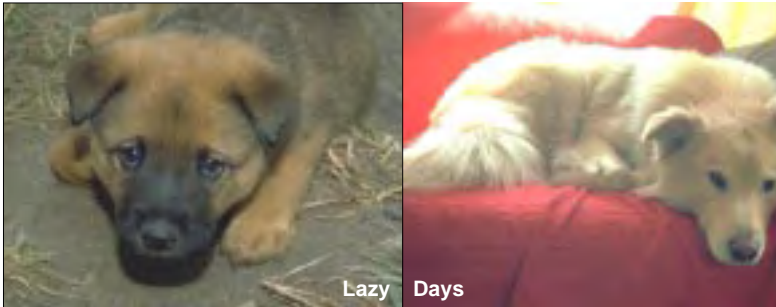

May he Rest in Peace.

Topic Two: Care for a new puppy.

Lazy Days

Having decided that you are going to purchase a puppy, you should make several preparations. A puppy will need a safe, enclosed area where it can play. It will also need somewhere warm to sleep. A puppy should not leave its mother before the age of six to eight weeks. When collecting your puppy, it is a good idea to do so in the morning, so you can spend the entire day with it, however, this is not vital. Always find out as much as you can about your puppy from the person you are buying – what is it used to eating? Talk to your puppy a lot, since it is likely to be feeling afraid and insecure. It is a good idea to keep the puppy in your lap on your journey home, not in a box. The puppy will still be missing its original family, and needs as much comforting as possible. Upon your arrival home, allow the puppy to investigate its new surroundings. Show it where it is to sleep, and if the time is right, give it a meal. A puppy should receive between four and five meals daily. These should consist of milks, meat and even some form of cereal. Puppy food is available with instructions included. Use your puppy's name as often as possible so that he or she will get used to it. If you are keeping your puppy inside the house, start toilet training at once. This is best done by taking the puppy outside after every meal, and whilst this might sound strange, you can use a word, for example "Pee". Whenever your puppy does release itself on your command, congratulate it. If at any time your puppy starts to rotate itself in circles, this could be an indication that it wants to urinate. Puppies are dewormed and micro chipped by the RSPCA. Deworming should take place every two weeks until 12 weeks old. Never take your puppy for long walks until he or she has become a junior dog. If your puppy starts to playfully jump up on you, or bite you, then this should be stopped immediately, since the problem could continue when it is an adult dog. Take your puppy by the skin of its neck, place it on the floor with belly facing you and firmly say "NO". Follow this with a gentle tickle of the stomach. Other useful commands which are simple to teach are "Sit" "Stay" "Come" and "Heel" Make plenty of time for your dog since this will result in it respecting, and loving you more. Some people claim that it even prolongs the life of your dog.

On Wednesday morning the 16th May at about 11.30am Peter Benjamin, skipper of the Helena Dorothy, was fishing in the vicinity of the Saddle when he hooked a rather exotic fish on one of his ground lines in about 91 fathoms of water. The fish, which is a dirty pink colour was approximately 40-50 cm in length and weighed 3.4kg was fairly ugly and had little in the way of teeth but had some sort of filtration system in its large mouth suggesting that it might live on shrimp or other small sea creatures. It had a set of strange spiky ridges along its belly and large black eyes; the fins were spiny in nature. According to information supplied by the Fisheries Corporation this type of fish is found in the deep waters of all oceans but is found mainly in the Madeira and the Cape Verde Islands areas. It is not commonly found in St Helena waters. When staff of the Fisheries corporation opened the fish the following day it was discovered that the stomach was empty and that the fish was heavy with roe, but most incredibly the heart was still beating after more than 26 hours out of water. It is amazing to think what is lurking below the surface of the seas that lap our doorstep!

FOOTBALL SEASON
STARTING SOON

"The Annual General Meeting of the St. Helena Football Association will be held on Wednesday 13th June 2001, 8pm, at the Consulate Hotel Ballroom. Teams are reminded that to enter for this seasons competitions, they must be represented by at least two of their players at this meeting, (one must be the captain). St. Helena Island team kit - Players who are in possession of this kit are kindly asked to please hand them in to me ASAP.

Peter Yon
Chairman SHFA"

Quarter finals in the K/O Handicap Matchplays resulted in wins for Leon against Paddo in the battle of the left-handers. In the 'FA Cup Final replay', Liverpool (Darren Henry) once again triumphed over Arsenal (Foxy Stevens). This leaves Darren to play against Leon for the right to play John Cranfield in the Final. In the Saturday Bogey competition, Rodney Buckley triumphed with a score of -3, whilst John Cranfield finished one hole behind in second spot. Roy Reynolds scooped the 2-ball pool. This Sunday sees the AGM. All members are urged to attend. A new committee needs to be elected and posts are vacant and the minutes of the previous year's AGM will need to be discussed. So much important business is on the agenda. Come along and play the Texas Scramble during the day, to be followed by tea and then the AGM, or just come for the tea and AGM, but DO COME! Next weekend sees a full weekend of fun, with Members' competitions, friends & guests, Sunday's 'Try it out' day and then Monday's Family Day with the BarBQ in the evening. Full details will be given next week but if you are in any doubt phone Rodney Buckley on 4765, or any Golf Club member, for more details in advance. Make some time to come down to Longwood over this weekend And, in the meantime, keep swinging happy and loose.
